

Call for Instructors
First Nation Bachelor of Teaching Program
2022 -2023 Academic Year

The First Nation Bachelor of Teaching program at Yellowquill University College would like to invite qualified instructors to apply to teach in our 2022-2023 Academic School Year. We are currently seeking instructors to teach the following courses:

History of First Nations Peoples in Canada	Sept. 19 – Oct. 14
Multisensory Language Rich Learning	Oct. 17 – Nov. 10
Natural Sciences 1	Nov. 14 – Dec. 9
Natural Sciences 2	Dec. 12 – Jan. 20
Teaching with an Indigenous Perspective: Unit Planning	Jan. 23 – Feb. 17
Successful Classroom Relationships and Practices	Feb. 21 – Mar. 17
Exceptional Children, Exceptional Teaching	Mar. 20 – April 21
Contemporary Indigenous Literature in Canada	June 5 – June 30

**Please note that the course titles are currently undergoing revision, but the numbers and content will remain the same.*

The First Nations Bachelor of Teaching program prepares student teachers to teach at the elementary or middle-year school level for public, band, and locally controlled schools in Manitoba. This culturally-based program prepares inspires students to build upon their identity and enhances their cultural awareness and connections. As the instructor, you will teach a cohort of students who attend in-person classes, 4 days a week for 4 weeks, combining a minimum of 36 teaching hours and 24 office hours. We encourage instructors that have a passion for the course content and the ability to deliver the course material in an engaging manner to apply to our program.

Interested applicants will submit their resumes and cover letter to courtney@yellowquill.org.

We thank all applicants in advance for their interest in being an instructor for First Nations Bachelor of Teaching program. The deadline for receipt of application is open until all positions are filled.