MKO Family Law Template

- In 1998, the MKO Chiefs-in-Assembly called for the development of a legislative framework for First Nations child and family services.
- In 1999, following a consultation process, the draft MKO Family Law called Minisiwin Winiswaywin was created by the MKO communities and endorsed by the MKO Chiefs-in-Assembly.
- Between 2000 and 2019, the CWS continued to develop the draft MKO Family Law in consultation with the MKO leadership.
- On June 21, 2019, Bill C-92, An Act respecting First Nations, Inuit, and Metis children, youth and families, became law.
- In November 2019, the MKO Chiefs-in-Assembly directed the CWS to update the draft MKO Family Law in relation to Bill C-92.
- On January 1, 2020, the federal law, An Act respecting First Nations, Inuit and Métis children, youth and families, came into effect. The Act enables First Nations to develop their own laws for child welfare.
- Since 2020, as directed by the MKO leadership, the CWS continued to develop the draft MKO Family Law in relation to the federal Act and create a template law for all MKO communities to adopt if they choose.
- On May 27, 2021, the MKO Executive Council adopted the motion for the CWS to move forward with the MKO Family Law template, remove the “Draft”, and circulate it to the MKO communities.
- the approach the member First Nation will take towards negotiating coordination agreements; and
- the overall approach to be taken to exercising legislative jurisdiction in a manner that is sensitive to custom and the needs to the community.

When reviewing and considering changes to the template law for the purpose of drafting a law for a particular community, drafters should be aware of certain decisions that informed the contents of this template law and its structure:

- 1. Sections 9 to 19 of the Act will apply to a member First Nation that exercises legislative jurisdiction over child and family services regardless of whether the language from these provisions is incorporated into a community's law. Further, section 22(1) of the Act provides that sections 10 to 15 of the Act will prevail to the extent of any conflict or inconsistency between the Act and a community's law. As such, a member First Nation can consider supplementing the contents of sections 10 to 15 (e.g. by adding onto the factors to be considered under the principle of the best interests of the child), but cannot put in place provisions that directly conflict with sections 10 to 15.
- 2. The Canadian Human Rights Act and Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms will apply to a community exercising jurisdiction over child and family welfare. In this vein, ways to protect the procedural rights of people who may be affected by the law and decisions made under it have been incorporated throughout.
- 3. The Act defines “child and family services” very broadly. As such, the template law provides a similarly broad definition in order to allow for a community to occupy as much of the child and family welfare space as possible. A member First Nation, however, will want to consider its capacity to exercise jurisdiction in this area and may want to narrow its law to specific components of child and family welfare if necessary. Further, some ways that a community will want to exercise jurisdiction under a broad definition of child and family services will require careful consideration when a coordination agreement is being negotiated.

The MKO Family Law template should be considered as a starting point for a member First Nation considering drafting and adopting their own law, with the template law helping to inform conversations within a community around:

- the member First Nation's existing capacity to exercise legislative jurisdiction;
- the funding and other resources a member First Nation may need to effectively exercise legislative jurisdiction;

PART B - PURPOSES AND PRINCIPLES

Purposes

- 1.17 The purposes of this Law are to:
- (a) affirm the rights and exclusive jurisdiction of the Nation over child and family welfare in relation to its citizens;
 - (b) establish an agency to provide child and family services on behalf of the Nation; and
 - (c) set out the principles applicable to the interpretation and administration of this Law and to the provision of child and family services.

Principles

- 1.18 The following fundamental principles shall inform the interpretation and administration of this Law:
- (a) We, the Nation, acknowledge and affirm the Creator grants us the power and authority to govern ourselves and to make laws.
 - (b) We believe that families are the foundation of our communities and that children are a gift from the Creator. As such, the health and social well-being of the family is pivotal to the success of this Law.
 - (c) We believe First Nations governments have the responsibility to protect and preserve the rights of parents and children.
 - (d) We believe that our languages, values, and customs must be preserved by our governments and our laws.
 - (e) We believe that our inherent right to govern our own affairs cannot be abrogated by an enactment of any other jurisdiction.
 - (f) We believe the family has the responsibility of raising children and maintaining family unity, and the community has a duty to promote and support family healing.
 - (g) First Nations governments and their citizens, by virtue of their inherent rights, should assist in the amelioration of family relations by instituting and promoting First Nations language, culture, and traditions.
 - (h) We believe that preservation of the family unit between biological parents and their children should be prioritized and that a transfer of guardianship of a child should only occur in exceptional circumstances.
 - (i) We will apply all customary family values in the administration and enforcement of this Law consistent with the teachings of love, honesty, caring, respect, and sharing.
 - (j) Traditional and customary approaches based on First Nations values and beliefs should be used to resolve family and community issues in order to achieve balance, harmony, and healing of the community.
 - (k) The physical, mental, emotional, and spiritual well-being of our families, children, and the community will be the foundation of this Law.

- (l) First Nations children have a right to family, culture, language, and a right to remain in their community of origin.
 - (m) We believe the responsibility of raising a family is eternal and that the responsibilities to our children continue into adulthood. If determined by Council and if the need arises, the child and family services provided pursuant to this Law should be available to all citizens regardless of their age.
- 1.19 Without limiting the foregoing, this Law is to be interpreted and administered in accordance with:

 - (i) cultural continuity is essential to the well-being of children, families, and the Nation;
 - (ii) the transmission of the languages, cultures, practices, customs, traditions, ceremonies, and knowledge of the Nation is integral to cultural continuity;
 - (iii) a child's best interests are often promoted when the child resides with members of their family and the culture of the Nation to which they belong is respected;
 - (iv) child and family services provided in relation to a citizen are to be provided in a manner that does not contribute to the assimilation of the Nation to which the child belongs or to the destruction of the culture of that Nation; and
 - (v) the characteristics and challenges of the region in which a child, a family, or the Nation is located are to be considered; and
 - (c) the principle of substantive equality as reflected in the following concepts:
 - (i) the rights and distinct needs of a child with a disability are to be considered in order to promote the child's participation, to the same extent as other children, in the activities of their family or the Nation;
 - (ii) a child must be able to exercise their rights under this Law, including the right to have their views and preferences considered in decisions that affect them, and they must be able to do so without discrimination, including discrimination based on sex or gender identity or expression;
 - (iii) a child's family member must be able to exercise their rights under this Law, including the right to have their views and preferences considered in decisions that affect them, and they must be able to do so without discrimination, including discrimination based on sex or gender identity or expression; and
 - (iv) in order to promote substantive equality between Indigenous children and other children, a jurisdictional dispute must not result in a gap in the child and family services that are provided in relation to Indigenous children.
- 1.20 The following principles shall inform the provision of child and family services under this Law:
- (a) trauma-informed;
 - (b) family-centred;
 - (c) relationship-centred;

Best Interests of the Child

1.22 The best interests of the child must be a primary consideration in the making of decisions or the taking of actions in the context of the provision of child and family services in relation to a child and, in the case of decisions or actions related to apprehension, the best interests of the child must be the paramount consideration.

1.23 When the factors referred to in section 7.1 are being considered, primary consideration must be given to the child's physical, emotional, and psychological safety, security, and well-being, as well as to the importance, for that child, of having an ongoing relationship with their family and with the Indigenous group, community, or people to which they belong and of preserving the child's connections to their culture.

1.24 To determine the best interests of a child, all factors related to the circumstances of the child must be considered, including:

- (a) the child's cultural, linguistic, religious, and spiritual upbringing and heritage;
- (b) the child's needs, given the child's age and stage of development, such as the child's need for stability;
- (c) the nature and strength of the child's relationship with their parent, the care provider, and any member of their family who plays an important role in their life;
- (d) the importance to the child of preserving the child's cultural identity and connections to the language and territory of the Nation;
- (e) the child's views and preferences, giving due weight to the child's age and maturity, unless they cannot be ascertained;
- (f) any plans for the child's care, including care in accordance with the customs or traditions of the Nation;
- (g) any family violence and its impact on the child, including whether the child is directly or indirectly exposed to the family violence as well as the physical, emotional, and psychological harm or risk of harm to the child; and
- (h) any civil or criminal proceeding, order, condition, or measure that is relevant to the safety, security and well-being of the child.

PART D - CHILD AND FAMILY WELFARE

Services to Promote Family Unity and Protect Children

- 1.53 A citizen may apply to the Agency, on their own behalf or on behalf of another citizen, for child and family services—including counselling, guidance, supportive, educational, and emergency shelter services, and including related financial and material assistance—to help address a situation that is or may be threatening the unity of a family or that is or may be requiring a child to be in need of intervention.
- 1.54 For clarity, the Agency may provide child and family services without an application under section 14.1.

Child Care Facilities

- 1.55 No person may operate a childcare facility except with a valid licence issued in accordance with a bylaw of the Agency or a resolution of Council.

Child in Need of Intervention

- 1.56 For the purposes of this Law, a child is in need of intervention where the life, health, emotional well-being, or development of the child is endangered by the act or omission of a person.
- 1.57 Without restricting the generality of section 15.1, a child is in need of intervention where:
- (a) the child is without adequate care, supervision, or control;
 - (b) the child is in the care, custody, control, or charge of a person:
 - (i) who has died and there is no living parent, guardian, or customary caregiver of the child,
 - (ii) who is unable or unwilling to provide adequate care, supervision, or control of the child,
 - (iii) whose conduct endangers or might endanger the life, health, emotional well-being, or development of the child, or
 - (iv) who neglects or refuses to provide or obtain proper medical or other remedial care or treatment necessary for the health or well-being of the child or who refuses to permit such care or treatment to be provided to the child when the care or treatment is recommended by a duly-qualified medical practitioner;
 - (c) is abused or is in danger of being abused, including where the child is likely to suffer harm or injury due to child pornography;
 - (d) is beyond the control of a person who has the care, custody, control, or charge of the child;
 - (e) is likely to suffer harm or injury due to the behaviour, condition, domestic environment, or associations of the child or of a person having care, custody, control, or charge of the child;
 - (f) is subjected to aggression or sexual harassment that endangers the life, health, or emotional well-being of the child; or

- (g) being under the age of 12 years, is left unattended and without reasonable provision being made for the supervision and safety of the child.

Reporting a Child in Need of Intervention

- 1.58 Subject to section 17.2, where a person has information that leads the person reasonably to believe that a child is or might be in need of intervention as provided in article 16, the person shall as soon as possible report the information to the Agency or to a parent, guardian, or customary caregiver of the child.
- 1.59 Where a person under section 17.1:
 - (a) does not know the identity of the parent, guardian, or customary caregiver of the child;
 - (b) has information that leads the person reasonably to believe that the parent, guardian, or customary caregiver:
 - (i) is responsible for causing the child to be in need of intervention, or
 - (ii) is unable or unwilling to provide adequate protection to the child in the circumstances; or
 - (c) has information that leads the person reasonably to believe that the child is or might be suffering abuse by a parent, guardian, or customary caregiver of the child or by a person have care, custody, control, or charge of the child subsection 17.1 does not apply and the person shall as soon as is practicable report the information to the Agency.

- 1.60 Notwithstanding any federal or provincial enactment, this article 17 applies even where the person has acquired the information through the discharge of professional duties or within a confidential relationship, but nothing in this section 17.3 abrogates any privilege that may exist because of the relationship between a solicitor and the solicitor's client.
- 1.61 In addition to the duty to report under subsection 17.1 and 17.2, a person who reasonably believes that a representation, material, or recording is, or might be, child pornography shall promptly report the information to the Agency.
- 1.62 Nothing in subsection 17.4 requires or authorizes a person to seek out child pornography.
- 1.63 No action lies against a person for providing information in good faith and in compliance with this article 17.
- 1.64 Except as required in the course of proceedings of the Family Council, or with the written consent of the informant, no person shall disclose:
 - (a) the identity of an informant under this article 17:
 - (i) to the family of the child reported to be in need of protection, or
 - (ii) to the person who is believed to have caused the child to be in need of protection; or
 - (b) the identity of an informant under section 17.4 to the person who possesses or accessed the representation, material, or recording that is or might be child pornography.
- 1.65 No person may suspend, demote, discipline, harass, interfere with, or otherwise disadvantage any informant under this article 17.

- 1.66 Where the Agency has reasonable grounds to believe that a person has caused a child to be in need of intervention or failed to report information in accordance with section 16.7, the Agency may report the matter to the body or person that governs the professional status of the person or certifies, licenses, or otherwise authorizes or permits the person to carry on their work or occupation.

Agency to Investigate

- 1.67 Where the Agency receives information that causes the Agency to suspect that a child is in need of intervention, the Agency shall immediately investigate the matter.
- 1.68 Where the Agency concludes, after an investigation under subsection 18.1, that a child is in need of intervention, the Agency shall report its conclusion to the Family Council, which shall order such further steps as are required by this Law or as the Family Council considers necessary for the protection of the child and the promotion of family unity.
- 1.69 Without limiting section 18.2, where the Agency concludes, after an investigation under subsection 18.1, that a child is in need of intervention, the Agency shall report its conclusion:
- (a) to the parents, guardian, or customary caregiver of the child;
 - (b) where there is no parent, guardian, or customary caregiver of the child, to a person having full-time custody or charge of the child;
 - (c) to the person, if any, who is identified by the investigation as the person who caused the child to be in need of intervention;
 - (d) in the case of a person under (c) whose employment:
 - (i) involves the care, custody, control, or charge of children, or
 - (ii) permits unsupervised access to children to the employer or the manager or supervisor at the place of employment;
 - (e) where the child attends school, to the principal of the school or the superintendent of the school division in which the school is located;
 - (f) to the child where, in the opinion of the Agency, the child is capable of understanding the information, except where disclosure is not in the best interests of the child; and
 - (g) to the person who reported the information that gave rise to the investigation, except where disclosure is not in the best interests of the child.
- 1.70 Where the Agency has concluded, after an investigation under section 18.1, that a child is not in need of intervention, the Agency shall report its conclusion:
- (a) to the parents, guardian, or customary caregiver of the child;
 - (b) where there is no parent, guardian, or customary caregiver of the child, to a person having full-time custody or charge of the child;
 - (c) to any person other than a person identified under (a) and (b) whose act or omission was investigated as potentially contributing to or causing a child to be in need of intervention;
 - (d) to the child where, in the opinion of the Agency, the child is capable of understanding the information, except where disclosure is not in the best interests of the child; and
 - (e) to the person who reported the information that gave rise to the investigation, except where disclosure is not in the best interests of the child.

- 1.71 The Agency shall not report its conclusion under sections 18.3 or 18.4 where a criminal investigation into the matter is pending and the peace officer in charge of the investigation requests the Agency not to report its conclusion because it would jeopardize the investigation.
- 1.72 Where the Agency receives information that a child was or might have been abused by a person who provides work for or services to the Agency or to a child care facility or other place where a child has been placed by the Agency, the Director shall, in addition to the duties of the Agency under section 18.1, immediately report the matter to the Family Council and the Family Council shall investigate the matter and take such further steps as are required by this Law or as the Family Council considers necessary for the protection of the child and the promotion of family unity.

Action by Agency re: Child Pornography

- 1.73 If, after reviewing a report made under section 18.1, the Agency reasonably believes that the representation, material, or recording is or might be child pornography, it shall take action to protect a child by reporting the matter to a law enforcement agency and take any further action as may be set out in the Child Pornography Reporting Regulation.

Not to Contact Child

- 1.74 Where the Family Council has reasonable and probable grounds to believe that a person has subjected a child to abuse or is likely to subject a child to abuse, the Family Council may impose an order that the person:
- (a) cease to reside in the same premises in which the child resides;
 - (b) refrain from any contact or association with a child; or
 - (c) do any other thing that the Family Council believes will both protect the child and promote family unity.

Apprehension by a Child and Family Services Provider of Another Jurisdiction

- 1.75 Any child apprehended by a peace officer or a child and family services provider of any other jurisdiction, whether pursuant to an enactment of the jurisdiction or by court order, must, as soon as possible, be transferred to the care and control of the Agency, which will report such apprehension to the Family Council in order for the Family Council to deal with the child in accordance with this Law.
- 1.76 A peace officer or child and family services provider of another jurisdiction that apprehends a child must, where practicable, provide notice of such apprehension before it occurs and if not practicable, then as soon as possible after it occurs.
- 1.77 A peace officer or child and family services provider that transfers the care and control of a child they apprehended to the Agency must, as soon as possible, deliver all records related to the apprehension to the Agency.

Apprehension by the Agency

- 1.78 If the Agency has reasonable and probable grounds to believe:
- (a) that a child is in immediate danger; or
 - (b) that a child who is unable to look after and care for themselves has been left without any responsible person to care for them;
- may, without authorization from the Family Council and by force if necessary, enter any premises to investigate the matter and if the child appears to be in need of intervention shall
- (c) apprehend the child and take the child to a place of safety; or
 - (d) take such other steps as are necessary to protect the child and promote family unity.
- 1.79 On application by the Agency, the Family Council, if satisfied that there are reasonable and probable grounds for believing there is a child who is in need of intervention, may issue an order authorizing the Agency:
- (a) to enter, by force if necessary, a building or other place specified in the order and search for the child; and
 - (b) if the child appears to be in need of intervention:
 - (i) to apprehend the child and to take the child to a place of safety, or
 - (ii) to take such other steps as are necessary to protect the child and promote family unity.
- 1.80 The fact that a child is under the care of a childcare facility or hospital or the fact that the Agency has placed a homemaker or parent aide in the home in which the child has been left does not prevent:
- (a) a person authorized to do so from apprehending the child as provided in this Law; or
 - (b) the Family Council from doing any other thing that the Family Council believes will both protect the child and promote family unity.
- 1.81 Where a child has been apprehended by the Agency, the Agency:
- (a) is responsible for the child's care, maintenance, education, and well-being;
 - (b) may authorize a medical examination of the child where the consent of a parent or guardian would otherwise be required; and
 - (c) may authorize the provision of medical or dental treatment if:
 - (i) the treatment is recommended by a duly-qualified medical practitioner or dentist,
 - (ii) the consent of a parent, guardian, or customary caregiver of the child would otherwise be required, and
 - (iii) no parent, guardian, or customary caregiver is available to consent to the treatment.
- 1.82 Notwithstanding subsections 22.4(b) or (c), if the child is 16 years of age or older, the Agency shall not authorize a medical examination under section 22.4(b) or medical or dental treatment under subsection 22.5(c) without the consent of the child.
- 1.83 As soon as possible after a child is apprehended by the Agency, the Agency shall notify the parent, guardian, or customary caregiver of the child of the apprehension, including the reasons for the apprehension and contact information for the Agency.

- 1.84 Without limiting section 22.6, the validity of any action taken by the Agency or Family Council is not affected if the Agency, after reasonable effort, is unable to give notice to the parent, guardian, or customary caregiver of the child who is apprehended.
- 1.85 As soon as possible after a child is apprehended by the Agency, the Agency shall refer the matter to the Family Council, which shall order such further steps as are required by this Law or as the Family Council considers necessary for the protection of the child and the promotion of family unity.
- 1.86 If a child has been apprehended by the Agency, the Agency shall have exclusive care and control of the child until the Family Council determines otherwise.
- 1.87 Unless immediate apprehension is consistent with the best interests of the child, before apprehending a child who resides with one of the child's parents or another adult member of the child's family, the Agency or other child and family services provider must demonstrate that it made active efforts to have the child continue to reside with that person.

Children in Care of Agency

- 1.88 No person shall:
- (a) without authority or an order of the Family Council, remove a child who is in the care and control of the Agency from premises in which the child is placed;
 - (b) induce or attempt to induce or help or attempt to help a child who is in the care of the Agency to leave the premises in which the child is placed;
- 1.89 Upon application by the Agency, where the Family Council is satisfied that a child has
- (a) absconded from any premises where the child is lawfully placed; or
 - (b) without the express permission of the Agency, the Family Council, or the person in charge of the premises, left such premises or any place where the child is permitted to be
- it may order the child to be apprehended by the Agency and returned forthwith to the premises where the child was lawfully placed or to another place of safety as determined by the Agency.
- 1.90 Where the Agency reasonably believes, considering the best interests of the child, that the Family Council cannot be convened under section 23.2 in an expedient enough time, the Agency may apprehend the child without an order of the Family Council and return them forthwith to the premises where the child was lawfully placed or to another place of safety as determined by the Agency.

Customary Care and Customary Adoptions

- 1.91 Without limiting the authority of the Family Council to make any decision or issue any order it considers necessary for the protection of the child and the promotion of family unity, the Family Council shall have the authority, in collaboration with and with the assistance of the Agency, to administer, sanction, and deal matters regarding customary care and customary adoption.
- 1.92 The placement of a child under a customary care arrangement, to the extent that it is consistent with the best interests of the child, is to occur in the following order of priority:
- (a) with a biological parent of the child;
 - (b) with a member of the family of the child who resides on reserve;

- (c) with a member of the family of the child who resides off reserve;
 - (d) with an adult citizen who is not a member of the family of the child and who resides on reserve;
 - (e) with an adult citizen who is not a member of the family of the child and who resides off reserve;
 - (f) with a person who is not a citizen, but who resides on reserve; and
 - (g) with a member of another First Nation.
- 1.93 Before guardianship may be transferred under a customary adoption arrangement, the Agency must:
- (a) explain to and ensure that the parent, guardian, or customary caregiver of the child who may be adopted understands their rights and the legal implications of the arrangement; and
 - (b) ensure each parent, guardian, or customary caregiver of the child receives independent legal advice, counselling from a knowledge keeper, or counselling from a specialized counselor of their choice.
